A POLITE SUICIDE.

The Spanish Consul for Australia, Don Antonio de Avala, lately blew out his brains while in England, but before doing so wrote a letter of apology to the Duke of Marlborough, for destroying himself in his Grace's park, which is a perfect curiosity in its way. There is a wondrous deal of simplicity as well | Water ... as politeness in it:

WOODSTOCK, April 14.—My LORD: I humbly ask your Lordship's pardon and forgiveness for the great liberty I have taken in coming to put an end to my dreary and miserable existence in your park. It may be a childish feeling, but one cannot blow his brains out in a common road, or one of those cultivated fields full of cottages, and civilization, and railways, and establishments of all kinds, of which your blessed country of England abounds. So I have not found your handsome park, and you must bear the inconvenience of a dead man in your grounds. I mean no offence.

I have vesterday visited your house, hoping the sight of good things, and chiefly good paintings, could do me good, and soften the wild ideas that had led me to put an end to my life; but all of no use. Your manor is one of the most noble, splendid things I saw in my life, and I have travelled about and seen nearly everything worth seeing. You have the finest Rubens that can be seen; that & CO., warranted equal to any ever offered to the should have a great attraction for me under Farming community. ordinary circumstances, but now they have been of no use.

I hope, with that splendid house, and park, and paintings, and library, you are happy, my Lord. If that is the case, you will have a kind heart, and pity a poor devil come to die in your grounds. If, on the contrary, you are miserable, also, as wealth is a medium, and does not constitute happiness, then you will say, like old Dico. Non ignara mati, mineris succurere disco."

and pity me, and order that they shall leave me quiet, and bury me in the spot I have died; and put a cross on it, in the Spanish fashion. I will be very grateful to you in the other world for it, if you do so, and wish not to trouble any more your Lordship about me. I am, my Lord, yours, respectfully.

A. ARROM DE AYALA.

WAR ANECDOTES.

As some Zouaves were returning to their barracks the other day, they fell in with some German mechanics, who were shouting lustily a German drinking song. They ceased their vociferations on seeing the Zouaves take up a warlike position and send forward a spokesman. "Messieurs, you are Germans; you can't deny it. Every one can't enjoy the honor of being a Frenchman." "Well, supposing we are," replied one of them. "Well, you admit it. Now, perhaps, you will let us know if there is an Austrian amongst vou." A German came forward, "Yes, 1 am an Austrian; now what have you got to say?" "Got to say" said the bellicose Zouave, "I should like to know whether you have ever been at Milan?" "Yes, I was in garrison there." "Then," said the Zouave, politely, "perhaps you will be good enough to give us the address of some public-house in that city where we can get good wine, for we expect to be quartered there shortly." The dialogue which had so bellicose a commencement terminated peacefully and jocosely, but it may be that these were some of those true words which are frequently let fall in jest .-As another illustration of the feeling of the army, let me describe to you a lesson in sword exercise in the cavalry barracks at Versailles. A carabineer recruit was put sword in hand, and ordered to back away at a dummy figure stuffed with straw, representing, of course, an Austrian soldier. The sergeant showed the neophyte soldier how to split the skull, to lop off the arm, and slash the Austrian's face "But can't you show me how to parry the enemy's thrusts?" inquired the recruit. need not trouble yourself about that," said the sergeant, twirling his moustache, "that is the Austrian's affair."

TAKING IT COOLLY.

A traveller relates the following:-Mr. Barnes, wife, and two children, his niece and another young lady, with the writer, formed a party leaving Memphis for Clarksville, Tennessee, in the beginning of the summer of 1827. Arriving at Smithland, we were compelled to take a smaller boat on account of the extreme lowness of the Cumberland river. Such was found in the Nettie Miller. a very nice little stern wheeler. We were proceeding on our way rejoicing, when suddenly we were thrown out of our nests and brought up all standing in the middle of the state room. All the gentlemen rushed out in dishabille to learn the trouble, and were frankly told by the captain that the boat was badly snagged, and would sink in a few minutes! Mr. Barnes flew with alarm to his wife and the young ladies-seized his children, deposited them safe in a wood boat, which the Nettie had in tow, and ran back. Surprised not to see any of the ladies out yet, he rushed to his wife's room and found her quietly washing her face and hands. "Why, my dear, the boat will sink in less than three minutes." "Well," she replied, "I think I can be out before that time.

Dragging her along, he rushed almost frantic with excitement to the young ladies' room, and found them very quietly combing

"For heaven's sake," said he, "young ladies, what do you mean? The boat will sink in two minutes, and here you are combing your

"Why, uncle," said the niece, "you didn't expect us to go out before all those young men with our hair in this fix, did you?"

CAUTION.—We beg leave to caution purcha-sers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to them-selves exact copies of the Star Brands, long need and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys. We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled anality, everywhere acknowledged, of unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights.

Our new establishment, Gibsonros Mills, the Monongabela River, gives us unequalled facilities for making Whiskey of the choicest kind, from malted and kiln-dried grain.

Purchasers of our Old Whiskies will please to notice, the words GIBSONTON MILLS and JOHN GIBson, Sous & Co., are inserted in the new Brands which we now adopt; and we deem it a daty to our customers and ourselves, to give notice, that we will prosecute and expose any person or persons who may be eafter copy or use our Brands.

SOMBRERO GUANO.

N calling the attention of the public to this valuable and recently discovered deposit of this fertilizing article, we will merely state, that like all other phosphatic GUANOS, its most valuable constituent is phosphoric acid, or bone phosphate of lime: and that its mercantile value, as compared with other GUANOS of its kind, may be easily determined by the amount of phosphoric acid or bone phosphate of lime it contains. In order, therefore, to give the public a thorough knowledge of what SOMBRERO GUANO does contain, we beg to refer to the foll-wing list of eminent chemists in different parts of the world, who have analyzed different cargoes, from average samples taken by themselves from the cargoes just as they arrive from the island, without drying or selection of specimens for analyzation. Each analysis will be exhibited, if required, under the original signature of each chemist named:
